

U.S. GOLFER SCORES WIN IN ENGLAND

Bobby Jones Defeats Manford in First Round of British Tourney at Hoylake.

HOYLAK, England, May 23.—Francis Ouimet, of Boston, turned in the second victory for the American golf team in the first round of the championship when he defeated T. E. Dick, Royal Liverpool Club, three up and two to play.

By FRANK CARRUTHERS, Editor of Golf Illustrated.

HOYLAK, England, May 23.—Bobby Jones, the youthful golf genius from Atlanta, Ga., scored the first victory for the American invaders in the British amateur championship, which started here today.

Jones and G. C. Manford, of Luffness New, were the first to get away, teeing off at 8:30 o'clock this morning. Jones defeated his opponent, winning his first round match 3 up and 2 to play. The match was close until Manford crumbled. Jones' card on the homeward course was not as impressive as his play going out. Manford gave him the eleventh hole. On the twelfth Jones shot badly, being short twice. On the fourteenth he drove into the roughs and looked likely to lose the hole, but Manford, in putting, knocked the American's ball a yard nearer the hole and then missed a yard putt himself.

TWO HUNDRED ENTER.

The beginning of today's tournament marks America's first big challenge of the year to Great Britain on the golf links and they met a veritable army for the British Isles have more than 200 entrants.

Francis Ouimet, Dr. Paul Hunter, Chick Evans, W. C. Fownes, Jr., Fred Wright, and J. Wood Platt, of the invading American team, were to play in today's round in addition to young Jones. Jesse Guilford is due to meet Cyril Tolley, the English champion, in the second round tomorrow.

The convincing manner in which the Americans won the international team match Saturday has made them feared more than ever.

ANY OTHER IS FIT.

"It is not only Evans, Jones and Ouimet who are dangerous," said a leading British competitor, "for any of the other American tourists are good enough to win. Of the big three, however, Ouimet has so far captured the best golf and if America captures the cup it will probably go to Boston."

The Americans rested Sunday. They do not like the course nor the greens, which are fast and slippery, owing to scorching by the sun.

Cyril Tolley's victory over Chick Evans was a great surprise to the Americans but the British player is much better than he demonstrated to the Americans last summer.

Evans frankly admitted it is Tolley upon whose shoulders England should place her faith.

There was quite a brisk bit of betting on today's matches. Jones was a 5-to-1 favorite over Manford. Tolley is favored to defeat Guilford tomorrow at odds of 6 to 4.

British critics recognize this American invasion as the most formidable in history, and, while some have maintained an air of confidence, their discussions have failed to reveal any unanimity as to who will stop the Yankees and insure the championship to an Englishman.

DUNCAN PICKS TOLLEY.

George Duncan, British professional champion, thinks that the man who beats Cyril Tolley, present amateur champion of Britain, will win the championship.

The British golfing public is very much alive to the fact that Chick Evans, Francis Ouimet and Bobby Jones "will want a lot of beating."

Already this American triumvirate is by way of becoming as famous here as the Braid-Taylor-Vardon combination of half-century-old professionals.

Though some of the knowing ones reveal an inclination to discount Bobby Jones as a callow youth, who may crack under the strain of this big championship tourney, there is no doubt but that the public at large has its eye on the "child wonder."

Vardon, even publicly, declares that Jones is a "child genius." Jones certainly showed no nervousness today.

Ray Ouimet Some Golfer.

EXCELSIOR SPRINGS, Mo., May 23.—Ray Ouimet, Kansas City, brother of Francis Ouimet, famous American golfer, now playing in England, won the annual tournament of the Excelsior Springs Golf Club by defeating Mason Dean, Kansas City, 5 and 4.

WAR DEPARTMENT POLO TEAM IN CUP PLAY TOMORROW

Soldier Riders and Philadelphia Country Club Will Open Quaker City Tourney.

PHILADELPHIA, May 23.—The regular polo season at the Philadelphia Country Club opens tomorrow when the Country Club first team plays the War Department, of Washington, in the first match for the Temora cup.

On Thursday the Bryn Mawr team plays Philadelphia Country Club second team, and the winners of these two matches meet on Saturday in the final. The games will start at 4:30 o'clock.

COLLEGIATE CHATTER

Frank Shea's 440 yards in forty-eight seconds flat in the Pitt meet Saturday, shows that the Panthers' captain will be a big factor in the final awarding of the intercollegiate quarter title. This is his last year in college competition.

Coach Lawson Robertson will take his Penn track squad to Cambridge on Wednesday in order to have enough time to work out for the intercollegiate Friday and Saturday. The red and blue squad will consist of about thirty athletes.

Stroke Heine Leh's Princeton crew showed that the victory over the Navy eight was no fluke when it beat Cornell by three lengths on Cayuga lake, Saturday. The Tigers' final annual race is with the University of California on Lake Carnegie June 4. The westerners have been rowing at Princeton for the last four or five days.

Hugo Besdek's Penn State baseball team, with a record of nineteen straight victories, has six more games to play. Pitt will be met at Pittsburgh on Wednesday; Penn State Saturday; Bucknell at State College, June 2 and 4; and Pitt at State, June 11 and 13. There is a good chance of State going through the season undefeated.

The college that gets Frank Conway, of Meersburg, will pick up a useful sprinter. The New York lad's feat of winning the 220-yard dash here on Saturday in twenty-two seconds flat was accomplished with out much effort. In the 100-yard he won in ten seconds.

Ned Gourdin, Harvard's all-around athlete, gave a remarkable performance in the Princeton meet when he broke Al Kraenzlein's intercollegiate broad jump record by clearing twenty-four feet six inches.

Kraenzlein's old mark was twenty-four feet four and one-half inches. The Harvard star claimed that he jumped close to twenty-five feet in the dual meet here with Pennsylvania, but it was not allowed owing to a questionable take-off.

SAUBER SETS TWELVE DOWN BY STRIKEOUTS

The fast traveling Herzl Club yesterday journeyed to Arlington, Va., and defeated the Arlington Reserves by a score of 5 to 2. Sauber, the diminutive Herzl southpaw, forced twelve of the reserves to whiff the air, letting his opponents down with but three hits, two of which were of the scratch variety.

The wearers of the "H" will meet the Alpine nine Sunday, May 29, on the Monument grounds, and will tackle the strong Bolling Field Aviators on Decoration Day on the latter's field.

Nobody Can See Carpenter Before the Fight and He Won't Be Able to See Anyone Afterwards.

By SKILLET FINN.

(Batting for Kirk Miller.)

Mons. De Scamps, Carpenter's bow-legged Chef de Guerre, is the slipperiest little eel which ever hurdled out of an aquarium.

After arriving in prohibition it was the consensus of seascick opinion among the Scamps person that the Atlantic is the most tickle tourney of butter that ever went unchurned.

Racing the porpoise on due east course from Brest to Hoboken is De Scamps' idea of taking punishment. He'll have a different notion of that or deal after July 2.

But he's slippery. He's elusive. He's adjacent. He's cautious as a baited trap nibbling at a mouse's goatee.

How come? Comme ça!

SUSPICION HANGS OVER VISITORS LIKE HALO.

He won't let anybody get within sniffing distance of his gold-filmed champion. Every time the sun comes out, he pulls down the shades like he expected to be raided.

Moving picture gents got the air. Reporters were admitted only after being blindfolded and gagged. Mien of suspicion concerning everything American seems to cover his camp like Rice adorns the outfield.

Spiked to the front yard to intimidate the morbidly curious is a Holstein cattle. It nibbles placidly at the garlic and moos encouragingly to anybody who'll come clean with the core of a slightly second-hand apple.

WARNING POSTED IN ALL LANGUAGES AND PINK.

Nailed on the front gate in sixteen different languages and indigo is the nimble admonition: "Dangereux—gare le Boeuf!"

"Look out for the bull!"

A fresh guy passing by, wrote in English:

"Tie that stuff outside."

"His ne passeront pas."

"They shall not pass" is the welcome on the door mat which Senor De Scamps has plastered on every tree, shrub and running brook in the general environment of Man-hasset, L. I.

If you want to risk a mean eye on Carpenter, meet us at the box office in Jersey City, July 2.

That sign will be planted in pansies in the front yard flower bed and will stand out in by-re-re-lect among the mignonette, horseradish, cauliflower and poison oak.

GIBRALTAR CLUB WINS GOOD GAME AT INDIAN HEAD

Defeats Maryland Powder Makers in First-Class Sunday Contest on Trip.

The Gibraltar Athletic Club defeated the strong Indian Head nine yesterday by the score of 4 to 2. This is the first game the Indians have lost on their home grounds this season, having eight games and losing but one other game, which was played at Owings, Md.

The Gibs turned in one of the best fielding games ever seen on the local diamond, getting three double plays which cut down runs. Ballenger, the Gibs pitcher, performed nicely, allowing five hits and striking out seven batters. Hiese, the Indian pitcher, also did well, allowing the Gibs six hits and sending nine by the strikeout route.

The Indian Head nine made three errors while the Gibs had a perfect day afield.

DOMINICAN LYCEUM WINS FROM YANKEE PLAYERS

The Dominican Lyceum yesterday defeated the Yankee Athletic Club on the Monument Lot by the score of 7 to 1. The features of the game were a home run by Bernie Costello with the bases loaded, and the pitching of McConnell, who fanned fifteen and allowed but one hit.

The Dominicans are without a game for this coming Sunday, May 29, and will just have to hear from some fast team, the game to be played on the Dominican's home field. Communicate with John J. McConnell, 418 Munsey Building, phone Main 2979.

SEDGWICK'S MOUND WORK GETS CLARENDON VICTORY

Sedgwick's great pitching was the main factor in Clarendon's victory over the Metropolitan A. C. 5 to 2, the Virginians' hurler allowing three hits and fanning fifteen batters.

Flynn, playing first base, was the only Metro able to solve Sedgwick's shoots, getting two hits in three times up.

It was Clarendon's ninth straight victory. Next Sunday the team will play the Register of the Treasury Office team, and Monday (Decoration Day) will take on the Knickerbockers.

Samazeilh had been rated sixth among the 1920 French players. Gobert won the title last year.

Andre Gobert and William H. Lau rents defeated Max Germot and Max Decugis in the finals of the doubles for the French tennis championship, 6-4, 7-5, 6-3.

Germot and Decugis were the doubles champions in 1920.
